

Rebates and concessions

The NSW and Federal Government fund a number of rebate programs for electricity and gas customers in NSW. There are also some water rebates available through individual water providers.

Energy rebates are available to eligible consumers who have an account in their name (retail customers) or who pay their bill to an owner/manager of a residential park, retirement village or strata scheme (embedded network customers).

Rebate

Who can apply?

How to apply

Life Support Rebate

Different rates apply depending on the equipment type.

Retail customers: up to $1,638* a year credited quarterly to your bill.

Embedded network customers: up to $1,802* a year paid into your bank account.

*If more than one piece of life support equipment is used rebates may be more than above.

Customers who use, or have a member of their household who uses, medical equipment at home that is necessary to sustain life.

To see a list of approved life support equipment and to find the application form, visit in person or via: service.nsw.gov.au

You cannot be disconnected if you have registered life support equipment in your home so make sure you advise your retailer and distributor.

If you are eligible for this rebate and have a concession card you may also be eligible for the Essential Medical Equipment Payment.

Fill in and have your doctor sign the application form and return it to:

Retail customers: your retailer

Embedded network customers: Service NSW

The medical forms are valid for four years, even if you change retailers.

Medical Energy Rebate

Retail customers: $350 a year, credited quarterly to your bill.

Embedded network customers: $385 a year paid into your bank account.

Customers (or those who have a member of their household) who cannot self-regulate their body temperature and hold either a:

- Pensioner Concession Card issued by DHS or DVA
- Health Care Card issued by DHS for some income payments
- DVA Gold Card.

See card samples on previous page.

Water rebates

Water rebates are usually administered by individual water providers who each have specific eligibility criteria. Contact your water provider to discuss your eligibility.

To be eligible for the pension rebate from Sydney Water, Shoalhaven Water and Hunter Water you must own and live in your home and hold either a Pensioner Concession Card issued by DHS or DVA, DVA Gold Card (marked War Widow or War Widow Pension, Totally and Permanently Incapacitated or Disability Pension).

If you own a property with someone who is not a pensioner, you may still get a rebate. The NSW Private Water Scheme Pensioner Rebate is available for eligible residential customers of private water schemes.
